British Practice For "Best Defence"

The best defence is attack, according to the majority of the military strategists, and the British army is being thoroughly groomed to take the offensive when the time is ripe. Here you see a company of the London Irish Regiment engaged in the practice of landing operations on British west coast. At top, a storming party charges in with bayonet and sub-machine guns to establish a beach head (foolish for big forces to come). Bottom, a base has been established and the boys that come after the storming party arrive with baggage skirting.

Battle For Base Of Argirocastro Is Now Imminent

Italian Troops In Porto Edda Reported Retreating Northward Along Coastal Road As Greeks Advance

BITOLJ, Yugoslavia, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Squadrons of British and Greek planes roared over Lake Ochrida today, setting off an air raid alarm in the Yugoslav village of Ochrida, to bomb Italian units and supply columns in Albania on the road between Pogradetz and Capasun.

By LEON KAY

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Nov. 27.—(BUP)—Frontier dispatches said today that a battle for Argirocastro, most important Italian base in southwestern Albania, was imminent and it was reported that Italian troops in Porto Edda, southwest of Argirocastro, were retreating.

Dispatches from Struga said that the Greeks now were within two miles of Argirocastro and that the Italians began withdrawing from Porto Edda last night and were fleeing northward along a coastal road, subjected to ambushes by Albanian rebel forces.

Porto Edda, southeastern Albania, was reported cut off from Argirocastro by the Greeks. Struga dispatches claimed that the Greek advance which cut communications between Porto Edda and Argirocastro started last Friday.

CRIMINAL SABOTAGE ROW TO PERIS

Nazis Rushing To Halt Damage

Railroad Between Oslo and Bergen Wrecked In At Least 10 Places As Norwegians Press Sabotage Plan

By RALPH FORTE

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 27.—(BUP)—Germany sent large units of troops and armored trucks into western and southern Norway. Press dispatches report landings had occurred in western Norway in the last two days, disrupting transport on the railroads and highways which Germany uses to supply her Norwegian bases.

Principal acts of sabotage were said to have taken place in Vestland province and Nazi occupation forces were hastily reinforced. The railroad between Oslo and Bergen, most important in Norway, was wrecked in at least ten points.

Many highways leading from Oslo to Vestland province likewise were destroyed and telephone service between Oslo and Vestland was disrupted. In Vestland at least ten houses were reported demolished after violent democratic explosions.

It was understood in Stockholm that German authorities had arrested a number of Norwegians whom they considered leaders in sabotage.

The reports indicated that the landings were the first phase of a large scale sabotage to harass the German forces of occupation as well as disrupt the supplying of Nazi air bases on the west coast of Norway. Plans for the sabotage were reported to have been taken off to bomb British cities and towns. It was recalled that the Royal Air Force recently reported a severe bombing on the German airport at Sligo, Norway.

When the sabotage campaign was under way, German authorities had been asked to supply the Oslo-Bergen railroad and adjacent highways. German authorities had a hasty consultation and ordered soldiers to patrol all stretches still open to traffic to prevent further sabotage.

It was understood that repairs to the road as that traffic be resumed would not be completed for several weeks.

The outbreak of organized sabotage followed three weeks of intermittent resistance to the "new German order" of Vidkun Quisling, German-appointed "Gauleiter" for Norway. Various members of Quisling's parliament had been posted at public meetings.

Canada's production for war purposes has in recent months entered a new and important stage," Mr. Somerville said. "The war savings movement must keep pace with the new stage."

Mr. Somerville is accompanied here by W. H. Budden, Ottawa general secretary of the National War Savings committee.

At present, all employers of labor are asked to cooperate in making the payroll deduction plan for the purchase of certificates available to their employees. In factory and office savings are asked to serve on the home front by deferring the spending of part of their wages until after the war.

CANADA'S AID TO FAR OUTDO WAR OF 1914

Flow Of Supplies Will Increase As New Units Begin Production

By PAT USSHER

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(CP Cable)—Prime Minister Chamberlain without portfolio in the war cabinet, told the House of Commons today that Canada's help in the war will be outstanding anything she did in the last war, "because we have labor and hold the key to the world's supply of raw materials." He declared the flow of supplies from Canada is "valuable in quantity and quality and will continue to increase as new units of production come into operation."

He explained the situation that before long North America would be a second arsenal from which Britain could obtain, without any supplies to supplement those produced in the empire."

Today's War Moves

By J. W. T. MASON

Russian United Press War Expert

RUSSIA has checked German plans for a military offensive through the middle east at least for the time being.

Reports today from Moscow state great prominence is being given in Russian newspapers to Bulgaria's refusal to join the triple alliance and to the presence in Sofia of Soviet diplomatic mission.

This journalistic display is Stalin's way of making known a Russian victory to the Russian people.

In Bulgaria lookouts are to be discontinued and there is a public display of satisfaction in the "new German order" of Vidkun Quisling, German-appointed "Gauleiter" for Norway.

Various members of Quisling's parliament had been posted at public meetings.

British Blast Turin Arsenal In Heavy Raid

Centre Of Italian War Production Lighted By Huge Fires—Berlin Also Bombed As Raids On Britain Lull

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(CP)—Eleven enemy planes were shot down in aerial fights over Kent today, the air ministry announced tonight. The Royal Air Force lost two aircraft.

The ministry also declared British bombers sank a German tanker off the Frisian Islands, in the North Sea, and "successfully attacked" a second fuel-carrying ship.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(CP)—A rapid-fire attack by British heavy bombers on the very centre of Italian war production was announced by the air ministry today to lighted fires in the factory city of Turin and set it shaking with bursts of its own explosives.

As the Royal Air Force lunged at both Turin and Berlin last night, the axis assaults on Britain lagged for a second successive night, and recurring raid warnings today brought only scattered, mild attacks to the British Isles.

London has its third, brief alert tonight, but no incendiary bombs were reported immediately.

The raiders over Turin attacked the royal arsenal and "greatly increased" damage done to the city Saturday night.

COLOGNE IS TARGET

The main bombing attack on Germany last night was aimed at the armaments factories of Cologne, the ministry added, but railways in Berlin also were attacked.

A communiqué stated five Royal Air Force planes were missing after the night's operations, including the raid on Turin.

The ministry announced the British and Italian forces in the Mediterranean had been on constant alert since the night's operations, but were not immediately available.

BRITISH HELP STUDIED AND BY AMERICANS

Washington Acts On Reports Brought Back From London

By J. C. STARR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The whole problem of United States aid to Britain was being studied by the War Relocation Authority officials last night on the basis of first-hand reports of British war needs brought back from London by the Marquis of Lothian, British ambassador.

Lord Lothian, who held his conference Monday with President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull, called again in the state department yesterday to talk with Sumner Welles, under-secretary of state.

He declared he brought no specific requests for aid but was asking officials with confidence to be found in Britain.

Other informed sources, however, drew a distinction between actual requests and an outline of Britain's most urgent needs in the war.

NEEDS STATED
Lord Lothian has emphasized these needs as ships, machines, planes and fuel.

Admission of British goods to the United States would be required to permit the United States to require any goods before the war.

President Roosevelt has declared that general armaments, planes and munitions are being produced for the United States.

The shipping problem thus was considered the most urgent in view of heavy British losses.

That conclusion, Chairman Dwight D. Wilson of the senate committee, said he would support.

Lothian said that the United States was to be asked to supply the United States with ships.

Financial aid in Britain has been a live issue in Washington since the Marquis of Lothian, ambassador to United States, announced on his return.

Death Of Craigavon Opens New Phase In Anglo-Irish Problem

By RUEL S. MOORE

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Irish relations which ultimately may affect the ticklish question of British defence bases in South Ireland and Irish partition, observers believed today, has been opened by the death of Lord Craigavon, Northern Ireland premier and bitterest Ulsterite.

The death of Lord Craigavon's death would lead to immediate solution of the defence and partition problems. However, with his passing, the situation symbolized by Craigavon was believed that partition would be the more likely outcome.

Craigavon, premier of Northern Ireland from the creation of the state, died at his home in Belfast on Monday.

He was succeeded by James Craig, who had been premier since 1921.

Points For Parents

By EDITH THOMAS WALLACE

Mother: "Let's talk this over, daughter, and perhaps you can help me more about it or I can make some suggestions that will help me decide what you should do."

It is fully as important that parents realize what decisions their children are able to make, as that they are willing to allow them to make some decisions.

DRUMHELLER MAN MENTIONED FOR GALLANT ACTION

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Nov. 27.—(CP)—Pte. W. R. Owens from Drumheller, Alta., was mentioned in persons reported in the list of a bombed building in South-East England Tuesday, was mentioned in the routine order of the Canadian Army Service Force. It was believed the first time in this war that an act of gallantry has been recorded in Canadian routine orders.

The order commending the private in the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps and Corps, in the town last Sept. 29 and several houses were destroyed.

Although the private was in no danger, and at considerable danger to himself, Pte. Owens entered a demolition building, and succeeded in liberating several persons trapped in the wreckage, the orders said.

There is no doubt that through the efforts of this soldier more than one person was saved from serious injury, and his gallant action throughout was worthy of the highest thanks of the service.

The G.O.C. 1st Division (Major Gen. G. R. Parker, V.C.) is pleased to commend the action of Pte. Owens.

Dorothy Dix Says:

Oh, love, what crimes are committed in thy name! Especially by women. No peculiarity of the feminine sex is so inexcusable as that the more a woman loves the more lustily she indulges in the object of her affections as she would not treat her dearest lover. She declares that her devotion is like the madness of charity.

Most of all her sins against devotion is in her sins against her own self.

What To Do

A discussion has come up to do with the proper way to hold a glass of water when drinking from it. Should one hold it at the stem, at the bowl, or at the rim?

MRS. C. C. S.

Answer: A goblet full of water is apt to be heavy and might turn over if not supported a little by the hand.

Therefore, I think that while the fingers would partly hold the stem, the weight would be really carried by the hand, half cradling the glass.

The idea is that you do not want to run the risk of spilling the contents; so do you want to grasp it in an awkward manner. A goblet is different than a wine glass, which is usually held by the stem alone.

But a wine glass is light and can easily be lifted by the fingers.

You can never see a rainbow unless you are between it and the sun.

Household Hints by Alice Brooks

Most mothers are so eager to get babies to sleeping all night without a feeding that it is unusual to find a mother who "bates" not to give her baby that first evening bottle. Why should one delay in step a feeding which is not necessary to the baby's good nourishment? If the small baby needs the first evening feeding, he'll continue to wake for it. And there is no particular reason to delay him this feeding. If his nourishment seems to demand it. But, at four or five months of age, if his daytime rations are ample, he will not even wake for it. He'll be indifferent to it when he is shaken and rocked from his sleep and told to take his night bottle. Then is the time to stop. The baby doesn't want to eat in the night and obviously he doesn't need it.

But, if he wants to wean her baby to a cup but she can't imagine how she can put a baby to sleep at night without a bottle. Two bad when a bottle has been used as a substitute for a feeding. The baby is to cup feedings during the day and gradually accustom him to taking part of the night feeding from the cup and the rest by bottle.

Then, gradually decrease the amount by bottle until there is no longer any satisfaction in taking it. By that time the baby should be drinking so shyly from a cup that he is quite willing to take a whole feeding that way.

It is much better before the time for cup feeding arrives to wean the cup feed water and orange juice. Then this method is a new thing to him. As soon as the baby can hold his head erect without effort, we can learn to accustom him to feed, and eventually some of it by cup. It takes practice to drink fluid in this way as it is easier on all concerned when early in the first year of life. The baby is in the practice of drinking in mouthfuls instead of in sips.

Then at nine months or thereabouts, when he is introduced to a solid feeding by cup, he will be able to eat it up because it becomes impatient about it.

It is a simple procedure that will save a mother a great deal of trouble. "Weaning to Cup," for a self-addressed and three-cent stamp, will be sent upon request to Mrs. Edith of the Year and Mail Department in case of this newspaper.

NEWS SERVICE DISCUSSED BY RADIO BOARD

Service In Canada Is Undecided

OTTAWA, Nov. 27.—(CP)—The board of governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation today Tuesday held a brief session, which said it was still considering the "continued use of Transradio News Service by privately-owned radio stations in Canada."

The text of the statement: "The continued use of Transradio News Service by privately-owned radio stations in Canada is still under consideration by the board of governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation."

"It should be noted that the Transradio News Service is not operated by any station or network of the C.B.C. itself."

The statement was issued after meeting at the board last night.

U.S. REPORT
Last week the United States House of representatives committee on un-American activities issued a report alleging that a connection existed between Transradio News Service and Transradio News Service, an alleged agency of German propaganda.

The report referred to circumstances which affected Canada in connection with radio and press. Transradio news reports are broadcast over several Canadian stations.

Last Friday, Conservative House Leader Henson brought the report to the attention of Munitions Minister.

After having in the House of Commons. He asked if steps would be taken to deal with the situation.

HOWES STATEMENT
Mr. Howes, who has jurisdiction over radio broadcasting in addition to his duties as head of the munitions and supply department, refused to say whether or not they should continue to broadcast Transradio news pending investigation Jan. 1 next by the C.M.C. of a new type of news service.

At New York, Herbert Moore, president of Transradio, issued a statement which alleged the committee on un-American activities had made a "diagonal error" in the report of its report referring to Transradio arrangements with the Transradio service.

SMALL BELGIAN FASCIST PARTY GETS 'REVENGE'

Assume Dominating Role
As Nazis Take Over
Country

BRUSSELS, German-occupied Belgium, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The Belgian Fascist party, after being "revenged" upon their former opponents, members of the Belgian Liberal and clerical parties.

(The Belgians, who could poll only an insignificant number of votes in Belgium, were outvoted by the government before the war. Now they welcome the domination of Nazi Germany, as do the Germans of Norway. Consequently the Nazi forces of occupation let them get away with enemies.)

At Namur, Belgian demonstrations smashed the windows of the residence of Francois Boveux, governor of the province of Namur. On previous, struck the governor in the face.

At Brussels, a suburb of Brussels, a group of Belgians attacked M. Thielman, the communal secretary, who arrived at the town hall stripped him and let him go. He had been in the cabinet of Premier Maxime Hergemab.

The Belgian newspaper, "Pays Libre," relates that fascist guards, armed with a pot, painted the words "Les Libérés" (the Libérés) in large letters on the fronts of the houses of four politicians in Brussels suburbs.

BULGARIA NOW FEELS RELIEF OVER FUTURE

Assurances By Britain O Escape From Axis Lends New Heart

By ROBERT ST. JOHN
SOFIA, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Bulgaria, having won the first round of her struggle to remain outside the axis orbit, took new heart today from the diplomatic activity of a visiting Soviet foreign official, who said he was "deeply disappointed" to learn that the British government was not going to respect her integrity if she continues the policy of non-assistance to Britain's enemies.

As Germany eased pressure on Bulgaria, which with Russian backing had been pushing for ending her completely into arms of the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Axis, Soviet diplomats lost no time in following suit.

Great significance attached to the long conference of A. S. Solov'ev, president of the Russian Danube Commission, and Alexander Kozlov, Russian minister to Bulgaria, and Evgeny Mironov, Russian ambassador

WITNESS NOW ASKS RELEASE FROM CUSTODY

Court Asks William Brent For Explanation Of Actions

William Brent, who Tuesday told Mr. Justice A. F. Ewing he "wasn't free after leaving his prison," changed his mind Wednesday and appeared again in supreme court seeking a court order for his release from custody.

Brent is being held on a material witness in the criminal proceedings against his brother, Daniel Brent, charged with breaking and entering the Henry Hicks and Sons Ltd. store and with the theft of a diamond ring and a watch.

Mr. Justice Ewing informed that Brent could have his liberty when he gave a reasonable assurance that he would appear in court to give evidence in the case.

"Yesterday," said the judge, "you did not want to answer any questions concerning your movements, and that did not leave a question for me as to whether you were attempting to evade arrest."

TWO SURETIES

"You will have to find two sufficient persons to vouch for you and also to guarantee that you will appear in court on December 30, 1940."

A. F. Ewing, in explanation, I will release you when you give a reasonable assurance for your appearance."

Mr. Brent, who had been in custody since his arrest on November 10, immediately applied and asked permission to file the amount of the bail bond.

Car Is Stolen

HOW DO YOU LIVE TO BE 100?

All of us are interested in long life, and many are the recipes for it. A daily diet of four—no more, no less—may very conveniently be a different tale to tell. There is, however, just one point on which all agree: that no man or woman ever reached extreme old age without a fairly good constitution. It is impossible to have a healthy old age if you are the victim of constipation. Waste matter stagnating in the intestines acts up toxic poisons, which seep into your bloodstream, and cause lingering illness. The result of constipation is lack of motion in your large bowel. Relief comes only when that moisture can be induced to return.

What Kruschen does Kruschen contains several mineral salts, which are blended in exactly the right proportion, to bring back moisture to the large bowel. These stimulate the organs of excretion to function, gentle nature. At the same time, Kruschen has a diuretic action which helps to keep your kidneys and liver, and assists in pulling your bloodstream of toxins. Kruschen, the amount of Kruschen required to clear up a stubborn case of constipation depends on the individual. But, once health and vitality have been regained, the dose should be reduced, so that enough is taken to keep the system functioning properly.
